

International anerkendelse

Professor emeritus dr. phil. Helmuth Sørensen Nyborgs forskningsartikel med titlen The decay of Western civilization: Double relaxed Darwinian Selection:

<https://lesacreduprintemps19.files.wordpress.com/2011/04/nyborg-2011-the-decay-of-western-civilization-double-relaxed-darwinian-selection.pdf> i april-nummeret 2011 i det britiske forskningstidsskrift Personality and Individual Differences blev indklaget til og pådømt af det statsligt danske UVVU-udvalg. En uvildig komite, bestående af fire førende forskere nedsat af det internationale forlag Elsevier er utvetydigt – og uafhængigt af hinanden – nået til konklusion, der afviger fra det danske UVVUs. Det kommer domstolene nu til at tage sig af, og det er Helmuth Sørensen Nyborg helt tryk ved.

Den engelske tilbagemelding den 12. marts 2015:

A scientific journal is trusted – by its readership and authorship – to ensure the quality of articles published in it. If the scientific or ethical quality of an article is questioned, as was the case with your work, it is our duty to investigate the allegations, come to an objective conclusion and communicate publicly if indeed problems with an article have been confirmed. All this has been done in relation to your article, and there is nothing further for us to add.

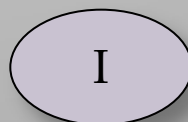

It is not the role of a scientific journal to engage in any political or other campaign that may be ongoing outside the scientific framework of the journal.
